"BUT HE WHO RECEIVED SEED ON THE GOOD GROUND IS HE WHO HEARS THE WORD AND UNDERSTANDS IT, WHO INDEED BEARS FRUIT AND PRODUCES: SOME A HUNDREDFOLD, SOME SIXTY, SOME THIRTY."
MATTHEW 13:23

SEED AND SOIL

GLORY BE ONLY TO GOD

Seed & Soil

All glory to God alone! We praise Him for the privilege of being used to bring glory to His name. The heart of this book, Seed and Soil, is to guide readers and writers into a deeper walk with God, rooted in His Word. Our prayer is that every heart becomes fertile soil ready to receive His truth, grow in His love, and bear lasting fruit for His Kingdom.

As Jesus calls us to be new creations, we long to walk in daily transformation through His grace. Changed by Him, we hope to become vessels through which others encounter His renewing power.

Behind each page are dedicated hearts of individuals who made space for God despite busy lives. Their obedience has inspired others to step forward in faith.

This journey reminds us that God can use anyone. No gift is too small when surrendered to Him. Offer what you have, He will multiply it for His glory.

We ask for your continued prayers. Let us lay aside the old, step boldly into the new, and build His Kingdom together.

Let His name alone be glorified!

Faith That Endures

In Genesis 6, the Bible says that the Lord regretted making mankind because the earth was filled with wickedness and corruption, and His heart was deeply troubled. Yet, in the midst of that generation, Noah found favour in the sight of God. "Noah was a righteous man, blameless among the people of his time, and he walked faithfully with God" (Genesis 6:9).

Most importantly, Noah did everything exactly as God commanded him. Though God spoke to him when he was about 500 years old, the flood came when he was 600. For 100 years, Noah patiently waited, trusted God's Word, and remained obedient. After the flood, God gave Noah this command:

"As for you, be fruitful and increase in number; multiply on the earth and increase upon it."- Genesis 9:7

Since the world we live in today is like the days of Noah, this command also applies to us. It extends beyond physical multiplication and points us toward spiritual fruitfulness. Just as God commanded Noah to be fruitful and multiply, Jesus calls us to bear spiritual fruit and multiply His kingdom by leading others to Him. In John 15, Jesus declares that He is the true Vine and that those who remain in Him will bear much fruit. Apart from Him, we can do nothing. Bearing fruit comes from abiding in Christ, obeying His commandments, and remaining in His love.

Faith That Endures

The early church demonstrates this beautifully. In Acts 2, the disciples waited together in God's presence until a violent wind from heaven filled the house, and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit. Peter proclaimed the Gospel, calling people to repent and be baptised in the name of Jesus Christ. About 3,000 people were added to the church that day. Their fruitfulness led to multiplication as the Lord continued to add to their number.

There is a beautiful connection between Noah and Pentecost. After Noah waited faithfully, God sent a wind that caused the floodwaters to recede (Genesis 8:1). Likewise, after the disciples waited in prayer, God sent a mighty wind and filled them with the Holy Spirit. In both situations, God moved powerfully because His people patiently waited, trusted Him, and obeyed His Word.

Jesus reminds us that the last days will be like the days of Noah, and Matthew 24:13 declares, "The one who stands firm to the end will be saved." Romans 3 teaches that "There is no one righteous, not even one," for we have all fallen short of the glory of God. Yet Romans 3:22 tells us that righteousness is given through faith in Jesus Christ to all who believe. We are made righteous not by our own efforts, but by placing our faith in Him.

Therefore, let us remain in Christ, bear spiritual fruit, repent of our sins, and be filled with the Holy Spirit. Like Noah and the early church, let us patiently wait on the Lord, faithfully obey His Word, and continue proclaiming the Gospel. Let us remain steadfast in faith until the return of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

May we be found righteous, not because of our own works, but because we have placed our faith in Him. As Jesus said, "The one who stands firm to the end will be saved." May we remain faithful, continue to bear fruit, and endure with hope until the day our Lord returns in glory.

When The Cross Doesn't Make Sense

Have you ever wondered why God chose the cross? Why did He save the world through suffering and death instead of power and victory? To many people, the cross does not make sense.

That is exactly what Paul says in 1 Corinthians 1:18: The message of the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God.

Paul wrote to the believers in Corinth, a city that admired wisdom, power, and success. In those days, the cross was a sign of shame and defeat. Many people laughed at Paul's message because they could not understand how a man who died on a cross could be the Saviour of the world.

But Paul teaches us that God's ways are different from the world's ways. The world says, Think about yourself. The cross says, Think about Christ. The world says, Take revenge. The cross says, Forgive. The world says, Live for yourself. The cross says, Live for God. What looked like defeat was actually God's greatest victory. Through the cross, Jesus defeated sin and death and made a way for us to have eternal life.

As teenagers, you face pressure every day. Your friends may ask you to hide your faith, do what everyone else is doing, or compromise your values just to fit in. Following Jesus may not always make sense to others, but it is always the right choice.

Do not let your marks, looks, popularity, or social media followers decide your value. Your true worth is found in Jesus, who loved you enough to die for you. Never be ashamed of the cross. What the world calls foolishness is the power of God to save and change lives.

One More Time At His Word

And Simon answered, “Master, we toiled all night and took nothing! But at your word I will let down the nets.” - Luke 5:5

Failure has a way of exhausting the soul. Peter had spent the entire night doing what he knew best. He was an experienced fisherman, yet despite all his effort, he caught nothing. Empty nets were tangible evidence of disappointment, frustration, and defeat.

Then Jesus arrived. What strikes me most is not the miracle itself but Peter's response. Despite his discouragement, he remained open to God's voice. He could have argued. He could have made excuses. He could have insisted that he had already tried everything.

Instead, he said, "Because You say so."

Those four words changed his life. There are moments when God asks us to trust Him beyond our understanding. He invites us to try again after failure, believe again after disappointment, and hope again after heartbreak. Everything within us may want to quit, but His Word calls us forward.

Perhaps there is an area of your life where you feel like Peter. You've prayed, worked, waited, and invested your energy, yet the results have been disappointing. The temptation is to give up entirely.

But what if Jesus is asking you to try one more time?

Not because of your strength. Not because of your expertise. Not because circumstances have improved. Simply because He has spoken. God's Word carries power that our efforts never can. When He directs us, He also provides what is needed for obedience. Peter's miracle began the moment he trusted Christ's instruction above his own experience. The same principle remains true today. Our failures do not have the final word. God's promises do.

Do not let disappointment harden your heart. Listen for His voice. Trust His leading. Lower the nets one more time. You may have failed before, but Jesus never fails.

Enjoying A Hedge Of Angels

Who knows what God may accomplish through prayer?- 2 Kings 6:8–23. The prophet Elisha experienced the miraculous protection of God as the result of prayer. The king of Syria sought to kill Elisha, who kept telling the Israelite army his every move. When the Syrian king discovered Elisha in Dothan, he sent a huge army to surround the city. Early the next morning, Elisha's servant saw the army ready to attack and became fearful. Elisha asked God to open the eyes of the young man. Immediately the servant looked up and gazed at the hillside surrounding Elisha and himself. It was then that he realised it was filled with horses and chariots of fire, a hedge of angels, God's mighty warriors.

As the Syrian army approached, Elisha prayed, "Strike this people, I pray, with blindness" (2 Kings 6:18). Elisha then led the blind army all the way to Samaria before the Lord opened their eyes, again through the prayers of Elisha! The distance between defeat and victory is measured by the distance it takes for us to fall on our knees before God in prayer. The armies of earth are no match for the armies of heaven. When God opens our spiritual eyes, fear gives way to faith, panic turns into peace, and impossible situations become opportunities to witness His power.

The same God who surrounded Elisha with heavenly protection still surrounds His children today. Though we may not always see His angels, we can trust that His presence never leaves us. Every prayer offered in faith invites us to rest in His sovereign care and perfect timing. Victory does not begin on the battlefield; it begins in the prayer room. The greatest strength of a believer is not found in human ability but in wholehearted dependence on God.

What miracles might He do for you through prayer? May this LORD of ELISHA Hedge you and your house with His angels!

“The angel of the LORD encamps around those who fear Him, and delivers them." - Psalm 34:7.

What Is True Beauty?

What comes to your mind when you think of beauty? Is it only about outward appearance, or is it something deeper? While it's good to care for how we look, true beauty also comes from within. The real question is: Are we giving as much attention to cultivating our inner beauty as we do our outward appearance? The Bible reminds us in 1 Peter 3:3–4: "Do not let your adornment be merely outward, arranging the hair, wearing gold, or putting on fine apparel. Rather, let it be the hidden person of the heart, with the incorruptible beauty of a gentle and quiet spirit, which is very precious in the sight of God." What do we learn from this passage?

Caring for our physical appearance is not wrong, but it should never come before developing the beauty of our hearts. In God's sight, true beauty is found within. Throughout Scripture, God chooses and blesses people not for their appearance, strength, or status, but for the condition of their hearts. A beautiful example of this is found in 1 Samuel 16. When Samuel went to anoint one of Jesse's sons as king, he assumed the strong and impressive eldest sons were God's choice. But the Lord rejected them all. The Lord said to Samuel: "Do not look at his appearance or at the height of his stature, because I have refused him. For the Lord does not see as man sees; for man looks at the outward appearance, but the Lord looks at the heart" - 1 Samuel 16:7. After all seven sons had passed before Samuel, he learned that Jesse had another son, David, who was tending the sheep.

When David arrived, the Lord said, "Arise, anoint him; for this is the one." David was not chosen because he looked like a king. He was chosen because he possessed the kind of heart God delights in. The world noticed David after Goliath fell, but God noticed him long before that, while he was faithfully tending his father's sheep. God saw David's humility, faith, obedience, stewardship, worship, and unwavering devotion.

Outward beauty may catch the eye, but inner beauty captures the heart of God. Let us pursue a heart that reflects Christ. As He transforms us from within, His beauty will shine through our lives. May our greatest desire be inner beauty, for a beautiful heart is precious in God's sight.

The Purpose Beyond Yourself

Purpose is often described as discovering God's plan for our own lives. We long to know where He is leading us, what He has called us to do, and how He wants to use us. Yet one of the most beautiful examples of purpose in Scripture is found in someone who never wore the crown.

And Saul's son Jonathan went to David at Horesh and helped him find strength in God. -1 Samuel 23:16

His name was Jonathan!

Perhaps we could even call him David's dearest friend. Their hearts were beautifully knit together by God in a friendship marked by love, loyalty, and faith. Their bond reminds us that some of God's greatest works are accomplished through the people He places beside us.

Though Jonathan was the rightful heir to Israel's throne, he recognised God's hand upon David's life. Instead of competing with God's plan, he chose to strengthen it. When David was weary and on the run, Jonathan didn't simply offer comfort; he pointed his friend back to God.

Jonathan had every human reason to see David as a rival. Yet because his heart was surrendered to God, he viewed David from a divine perspective rather than a human one!

Saul and Jonathan looked at the same David. Saul saw a threat, but Jonathan saw God's purpose!

In a world full of Sauls, let us be Jonathans!! People who rejoice in God's work in others, strengthen them in their walk with Him, and place His will Perhaps your purpose isn't only found in the story God is writing through your life, but also in the lives He calls you to strengthen along the way.

Shaped In Solitude

Have you ever heard the phrase, "A warrior's path is a solitary one"? Being chosen for a mission often comes with struggle, and sometimes a warrior must walk alone. Joseph is a perfect example. Though he was his father's favourite son and received dreams of a glorious purpose, his journey began in a pit before he became second-in-command of Egypt.

God prepares His chosen ones through seasons of loneliness and separation. Genesis 39:2 reminds us, "The Lord was with Joseph." Through trials and temptations, God prepared Joseph for a higher purpose. His calling did not begin with jubilation but with separation from his comfort zone. Like Joseph and Moses, many of God's chosen ones walked through the wilderness before fulfilling their purpose. God has not abandoned us in difficult times; He is shaping us for His greater plan.

Genesis 39: 20, 21 - "… But while Joseph was there in the prison, the Lord was with him; he showed him kindness and granted him favour in the eyes of the prison warden." Even in prison, God was with Joseph, leading him through every struggle. Our God never leaves us in the storm. When nothing seems to be going our way, He is still working behind the scenes, accomplishing His perfect plan for our lives.

The struggle for a higher purpose is not defined by our talent alone but by the trials we overcome. Joseph remained faithful when tempted by Potiphar's wife and forgave the brothers who had abandoned him. Through such trials, God moulds our character. Greater responsibility requires stronger faith and a willingness to walk with Him, never letting go during difficult times.

Prayer: Dear God, thank you for bestowing upon me a higher purpose. I know the journey won't be an easy one, but I will continue to walk by you during it. Help me to be obedient during this journey so that I will be shaped according to your will. Help me to trust the path that you're taking me through, where the destination is known only to you. Let me be the vessel that serves the purpose you have for me and let me fulfil your will. Amen.

Reordering Our Priorities

The northern tribes of Israel in Amos' time seemed like they were doing all the right things. They offered sacrifices to God and were exact in their religious observations. And yet, the book of Amos is written to them as a warning that destruction would befall them if they refused to change.

Why?

Because they had neglected the true heart of loving and worshipping God.

While they were doing many of the "right" things, it's what they weren't doing that drew God's ire. They failed to take care of the poor and needy. They turned their eyes away from injustice. Many had turned to idols for help and prayer.

Through Amos, God told the people of Israel that it is just as important to be righteous inwardly as it is outwardly. We cannot say we love God and others when we fail to help people who are within our power to help.

Just as James 1:27 tells us, true religion includes helping orphans, widows, and those who are in distress. James goes on to write that faith without works is a dead faith (James 2:26). In short, faith is both believing in the Lord and doing the things He has told us to do.

Take some time to think about your own life: How much time do you prioritise on your own spirituality versus serving others?

What ways can you begin to take steps toward serving in your church, your neighbourhood, or your school to help those in need? All of these are ways that our faith becomes complete in Christ as we follow after Him.

Pray And Praise

There are seasons when our efforts seem to bring no visible progress, when promotions are delayed, approvals remain pending, and others appear to move ahead. In such moments, we may question God's plan, allowing frustration to create emptiness. We often rush to make alternate plans and act hastily, trying to speed up what God is working on. But waiting is one of the hardest things to do. Yet, in Psalm 40:1, King David says: "I waited patiently for the Lord." Do not try to fill the void on your own; wait for the Lord.

But what should we do while we wait? In Acts 16, we see Paul and Silas beaten and thrown into prison. They were stuck there with no apparent way out. They did not try to force their escape through human effort. They allowed the situation to remain as it was, but they did one important thing. Acts 16:25–26 says: "About midnight Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns to God… Suddenly there was such a violent earthquake that the foundations of the prison were shaken. At once all the prison doors flew open, and everyone's chains came loose."

Look at Daniel. When he was thrown into the lions' den, there was absolutely nothing he could do to save himself from being stuck amidst the lions. He did not attempt to escape. The king himself testified about Daniel's continual devotion to God. Daniel 6:20, 22 says: "Daniel, servant of the living God, has your God, whom you serve continually, been able to rescue you from the lions?" And Daniel replied: "My God sent his angel, and he shut the mouths of the lions." When God intervenes, He does what is beyond human understanding, for His ways and thoughts are higher than ours. If we claim to have faith but refuse to wait for His intervention, choosing instead to rely only on our own efforts, we reveal a lack of trust in His perfect timing.

So, let God intervene. For the Lord says in Exodus 14:14: "The Lord will fight for you; you need only to be still." God does not ask us to rely on our own understanding. Instead, He calls us to: "Rejoice always, pray continually, give thanks in all circumstances; for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus." - 1 Thessalonians 5:16–18. So while you wait, pray and praise.

Our Plan

You plan a trip during the weekend, but some other responsibilities or plans conflict with the same dates. So you try finishing them or try postponing them or changing plans, but in the end you weren't able to go on the trip and got occupied with other responsibilities. So you end up worrying that your plans are getting disturbed and that you won't be able to enjoy the weekend. Later on, seeing the news, you got to know that the place where you had planned on going had faced severe rainfall and landslides. Then you realise it was great that you did not go on the trip.

In this same way, we have made or are still making so many plans in our lives which remain unanswered or did not end up the way you expected them to be. As we read in Proverbs 19:21, "Many are the plans in the mind of a man, but it is the purpose of the Lord that will stand."

The purpose of our plans might not align with our heavenly Father, so understanding the will of God in our lives and our calling for his work is very important. And as we all know, in Jeremiah 29:11, we must trust and have faith in God that he has made great and wonderful plans for us rather than relying on our plans, which we think are the best. His plans are even more abundant and beautiful than what we had planned.

So as it says in Psalm 32:8 and 37:23, we are asked to delight in him and submit all our needs and challenges to him through prayer. Then our lord will guide each and every step of our life in the true purpose for which he has made us and will continue to lead us.

So don't get worried or anxious when your ways do not go as planned; submit them to the lord and wait upon him patiently, for he will provide the wisdom, understanding and the guidance to align our paths to his and to achieve the purpose for which we have been called.

Understanding The Father's Heart

“And in the wilderness where you saw how the Lord your God carried you, as a man carries his son, in all the way that you went until you came to this place.”- Deuteronomy 1:31

We've all experienced both good and difficult seasons in our lives. There have been days when we could feel the Father's love in everything around us, and there have been other days when crying out to our Heavenly Father felt like shouting into the void, when we couldn't sense His presence with us. But does our inability to feel His presence mean that He is absent from our lives?

When we were young, our fathers held our hands as we learned to walk, taught us to ride a bicycle, helped us learn to swim, and guided us through so many firsts. But in every process of learning, there comes a moment when a father has to let go. In that moment, fear and doubt can overwhelm us. We wonder whether we'll make it on our own. Yet somehow, we do. We learn, we grow, and we keep going.

Even when our fathers let go, they don't walk away, do they? They remain close by, watching carefully, ready to catch us the moment we begin to fall.

If our earthly fathers do this much, how much more does our Heavenly Father? Sometimes, in this life where we are constantly learning and growing, He allows us to walk through certain circumstances so that we may experience something new and be shaped by it. Those moments may feel frightening, but we must remember that He is never far away. We may stumble, but He is always near, ready to lift us when we need Him most.

It is during times like these that we need to understand the Father's heart: a heart that relentlessly pursues us despite the distance we create; a heart that lovingly corrects us when we choose the wrong path, yet still welcomes us with open arms when we return; a heart that never leaves us, even when we feel as though He is absent.

Seeking God First

"Now in the morning, having risen a long while before daylight, He went out and departed to a solitary place; and there He prayed."-Mark 1:35

Have you ever felt this way? "I'm very busy; I will read my Bible and have my quiet time with the Lord later".

Jesus had very busy days, while the crowds thronged around Him to hear Him and to be healed by Him. But He intentionally took out time each day to spend time with the Father and start afresh.

A few things that we can take away from this short but powerful verse are as follows:

- What time?

"Having risen a long while before daylight": For some, this may not be the ideal time due to reasons such as night shifts, but the point here is to seek God first before you go about your daily routine.

- What place?

"Solitary place": Because this time is dedicated for us to spend time with God alone. It's important to quieten the world's noises, literally, by getting away to a calm surrounding, so that our attention is centred on God, and we can focus on His voice speaking through His Word and prayer.

- What to do?

"There He prayed": It doesn't stop with setting aside a time and place. How we utilise it matters. We should learn to avoid behaviours such as peeping into the phone, sleeping off while praying/reading the Bible, daydreaming, etc.

My friend, let us resolve in our hearts and discipline our bodies to enjoy our time with God and bear the fruit of the sweet communion with Him.

The Spear And The Promise

1 Samuel 18:10-11; 19:9-10; 26:7-12

As Saul's story unfolds, one detail appears again and again: he has a spear in his hand. At first, it is a weapon of war. But over time, it becomes a symbol of something much deeper. Saul's spear reflects a heart gripped by jealousy, fear, insecurity, and the desperate need to hold on to power. David, however, tells a different story.

On one occasion, David secretly entered Saul's camp while the king slept. Saul's spear stood beside him, and David had the perfect opportunity to end his years of suffering. Yet instead of using the spear, David took it and walked away. He refused to grasp what God had not given him. David trusted that God would fulfil His promise without requiring him to take revenge. The contrast is striking. Saul held tightly to his spear. David held firmly to God's promise.

What are you holding on to today? Perhaps it is bitterness from a painful relationship, jealousy over someone else's success, fear of the future, or the desire to control every outcome. These things can quietly become the spears we refuse to put down, keeping us from experiencing God's peace.

Sometimes the greatest obstacle to God's work in our lives is not the battle around us but what we continue to carry within us. When we release our fears and burdens into God's hands, we make room for Him to work in ways we never could.

Prayer: Lord, reveal any spear I am still holding. Help me release bitterness, fear, jealousy, and the desire for control. Teach me to trust Your promises more than my own strength and to rest confidently in Your perfect timing. Amen.

A Place Reserved By Grace

2 Samuel 9

Most people remember this story because of David's kindness. But consider what this encounter meant for Mephibosheth. He was the grandson of Saul, the king who had spent years trying to kill David. In those days, a new king often eliminated the previous king's family to secure the throne. When David summoned Mephibosheth, he likely expected judgment, not mercy.

Instead, David greeted him with words of assurance: Do not be afraid. Rather than punishment, Mephibosheth received kindness. Rather than losing his life, he was given back his family's land. More astonishingly, David invited him to eat at the king's table continually, as one of the king's own sons. This is a beautiful picture of the gospel.

Like Mephibosheth, we come before God with nothing to offer. We are spiritually helpless and undeserving of His favour. Yet because of Jesus Christ, we are welcomed into God's family, not as servants trying to earn His acceptance, but as beloved children invited to His table. Grace gives us what we could never deserve and welcomes us where we could never belong.

Perhaps you feel unworthy because of your past, your failures, or your weaknesses. Remember that God's invitation is not based on your worthiness but on His unfailing love. The King still calls people who believe they have no place at His table. His grace reaches the broken, restores the forgotten, and gives them a new identity.

Prayer: Lord, thank You for welcoming me by Your grace, not because of what I have done, but because of Your great love. Help me to live each day with humility, gratitude, and a heart that reflects Your love to everyone around me. Amen.

Refocus On Jesus

Recently, I joined a new place and went to a nearby city for an event. While coming back on the train, my phone was about to die, and I didn't know where to get off. Since the probability of missing my station was high, I asked the sister next to me for help.

After getting off, I realised I had to walk 1 km to reach the place where I was staying. I felt confused looking at the junction of roads and the number of turns. I only remembered the way from the town church. So, I prayed to God for guidance, and when I looked up, I saw the cross on top of the church. I fixed my eyes on the cross, started walking, and turned in whichever direction felt closer to it. After reaching the church, I thanked God, figured out the way back, and arrived safely.

Often in our lives, amidst all the confusion and chaos, we feel like my dead phone's battery, but we forget the God to whom we belong. He is a way maker! Once we fix our eyes on Him rather than on our situations and storms, we can always find a way through His grace.

Ask yourselves today: Where does your focus lie? Does it rest on the stormy waves, or are your eyes fixed on the One who walks on water?

If you are focusing on the Lord and walking on water, please continue to do so. If you have lost your focus and started sinking, His hands are ready to lift you out of the water! O ye of little faith, are you ready to refocus on the Lord and walk on water?

Real God Of India

Today India is celebrating its 80th Independence Day.

1 Samuel 17:46 says,

...Then the whole world will know that Israel has a real God (CEV).

India is a polytheistic country, which means worshipping many gods, but on this Independence Day, my prayer is: let India know the one real God. This verse is a declaration of faith by David when he stood against Goliath on the battlefield of Israel and the Philistines. His faith declaration came true on the same day. Today, let it happen in India as well.

We have to ask ourselves one thing. Have we done anything to prove the real one God to India?

Do one thing that you can do: David didn't use Saul's mighty sword to kill Goliath, but he used his own normal sling (1 Sam 17:39,49); it proclaimed the true name of God to the nations, that Israel's God is the true God. We don't need the great support of the nation, the authority and rights of the law, to prove God to this nation.

Instead, pray simply in your room against the evil of the nation, stand firm in your spirit to do gospel ministry in your home and street for perishing souls. Stand in the name of God for the welfare of your area. If each Christian of India does it sincerely, like David, we can show real God Jesus Christ to India.

Happy Independence Day. Never despise small beginnings. Often, they are where God does His greatest work.

God Of Valleys

Have you ever been to a valley? Beautiful, green, and full of life? Yet in the Bible, valleys are often places of testing, battles, decisions, and God's intervention. A well-known passage says: “Even when I walk through the darkest valley, I will not be afraid, for you are close beside me. Your rod and your staff protect and comfort me.”- Psalm 23:4.

While listening to a podcast, I heard a Bible teacher explain the significance of valleys in Scripture. Though often fertile and peaceful, valleys were also places where God accomplished significant purposes, each revealing a unique spiritual lesson.

1. Valley of Elah – Where David Overcame Goliath

The Valley of Elah was a place of fear, where Goliath challenged Israel. While others saw an impossible giant, David saw an opportunity for God to display His power. When you face overwhelming situations, do not lose heart. Trust God's promises, take a step of faith, and remember that He can accomplish great things through those who rely on Him.

2. Valley of Kidron – A Valley of Surrender

The word Kidron means dark or dusky. King David crossed this valley while fleeing for his life from his own son, Absalom. Imagine the pain and humiliation of a king running from his own child. The Bible tells us that the people followed him weeping as they crossed the Kidron Valley. David could have relied on his military strength or used his royal authority to crush the rebellion. Instead, he chose to trust God and surrender the situation into His hands.

Likewise, there are seasons in our lives when we are tempted to depend on our own strength, control every outcome, or become self-sufficient. Yet God often allows us to walk through our own "Kidron Valley" to teach us dependence on Him. In our darkest moments, He invites us to entrust our fears, disappointments, and uncertainties to Him. The valley is not a sign that God has abandoned us; it is often the place where we learn to trust Him most deeply.

Suffering Redeemed

Look around, and you'll quickly identify suffering, grief, and injustice. Maybe you've experienced some of these things yourself: a difficult season, a profound injustice, or a deep grief.

Suffering rarely makes sense. And the hard truth is: most of our questions regarding suffering will go unanswered at this time. However, Romans 8:18 provides us with a perspective that can help us in seasons of suffering:

"I consider that our present sufferings are not worth comparing with the glory that will be revealed in us."

In this verse, Paul, the author of Romans, points us to the future. All throughout Scripture, God has been working within His people to bring redemption and make things new.

We live in one reality, which includes suffering and grief. But one day, God will return and complete the work He has begun in Jesus. When He returns, Scripture says that all suffering will cease. There will be no more tears, pain, or sickness (Revelation 21:4). At that time, when we join God in heaven, we will be perfected and made whole.

Paul's encouragement to us is this: persevere through your current season of suffering because what awaits you will be worth waiting for. When God returns and brings us into His presence, we won't think of the past suffering that we've endured. This is why Paul says that our present suffering cannot compare to what will be revealed in us in the future.

How often do you think about heaven? How often do you praise God for His continued work of redeeming us and making us new? Take some time to think about these things.

The more we consider the future and our union with God, the more this perspective will encourage us to endure difficult seasons of life.

In His Time

Esther 2:7 states, "Mordecai had a cousin named Hadassah, whom he had brought up because she had neither father nor mother. This young woman, who was also known as Esther, had a lovely figure and was beautiful." The Hebrew name Hadassah means "myrtle tree," a symbol of peace, love, joy, and righteousness in Jewish tradition. However, Esther's life was quite the opposite; it lacked the very qualities that her name represented.

Isaiah 41:19 says, "I will put in the wilderness the cedar, the acacia, the myrtle, and the olive." Indeed, Esther's life resembled a wilderness until she became queen in the month of Tebeth/Tevet (Esther 2:16-17).

As stated in Isaiah 55:13, "Instead of the thorn shall come up the cypress; instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle; and it shall make a name for the Lord, an everlasting sign that shall not be cut off." Esther ascended to the throne in place of Vashti and became an everlasting symbol of God's glory.

The myrtle tree typically blooms from late spring through summer and into early autumn (June to August), while Esther became queen in the month of Tebeth (Tevet), which falls around December to January (Esther 2:16-17). God often works in unexpected ways, and His methods are beyond human understanding.

If you find yourself in a wilderness like Esther, remember that "To everything there is a season, a time for every purpose under heaven" (Ecclesiastes 3:1), and He has made everything beautiful in its time (Ecclesiastes 3:11) in the past, and He will make everything beautiful in the future as well. Trust in the Lord and wait upon Him!

Wait For The Lord

Waiting for the Lord is not easy. When days go by without answers, we want to do something like making a plan, hurrying things up or finding quick fixes. But David asks us to wait in Psalm 27:14," Wait for the Lord; be strong and take heart and wait for the Lord."

He tells us to wait for the Lord, to be strong and to let our hearts be brave. Waiting here is not giving up. It is a brave choice to trust God's timing.

This waiting is not empty. It is a deliberate decision to trust God more than our own plans. It takes strength to stop controlling things, to resist quick solutions and to calm the worry that asks for immediate proof. It takes courage to keep believing when life feels uncertain. In waiting, we choose faith instead of fear.

Waiting helps us depend on God. When answers do not come right away, we get a chance to pray more, listen more and see how God is working in small ways. In the quiet time between asking and receiving, our faith grows stronger. We learn that God's presence matters more than fast results and that His ways often shape our character more than they give comfort.

So don't think waiting is wasted time. It is a special season in which courage is built, patience grows, and trust becomes deeper. Practice waiting by giving your plans to God, staying faithful in small daily tasks and remembering how God has helped you before.

Let waiting become a form of worship: quiet, confident and full of hope. Wait on the Lord and let His perfect timing change and strengthen you.

Get Rid Of Passivity

While I was reading Joyce Meyer's book titled "Battlefield of the Mind”, in a chapter called Passive Mind. By reading the chapter, I was guilty and astonished at how passive my mind was.

Ephesians 4:27 says, "Don't give opportunity to the devil”.

If we relate this thing to the passivity of the mind. We infer that if our mind is not filled with the word of God, we fill it with negative thoughts and sometimes intrusive thoughts will intrude on our mind, which spoils the relationship with God. It starts with not trusting God's plan and promises for our own life. Further, it leads to unbelief and backsliding.

A famous quote says, "An idle mind is the devil's workshop"

See how the devil is mischievous and conceives evil plans for us. So, if he's strong, imagine our Father in heaven who created heaven and earth, who is a mighty and strong tower. It’s good to build trust in Him rather on the thoughts we believe rather on humans.

That's what Romans 12:2 says, “Do not be confirmed to this world; but be transformed by the renewal of your mind"

If we feed our mind on the word and positive thoughts, the devil will run off; he will fall. Because our Saviour is a strong tower. Remember, the mind is the battlefield. As Ephesians 6:12 says, "For our battle is not with the flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the powers of dark world and against the spiritual forces of the evil in heavenly realms"

Let's strengthen ourselves to battle against the Devil.

God's Timing Is Worth The Wait

Now to him who is able to do immeasurably more than all we ask or imagine, according to his power that is at work within us. - Ephesians 3:20

Waiting can be one of the toughest parts of following Christ. We pray honestly and trust in God's promises, but sometimes we still wonder why answers take so long. When that happens, it's easy to feel impatient and want to handle things ourselves. We might think we know what's best or feel like we just can't wait any longer. Still, God's timing always has a reason.

Abraham and Sarah went through this struggle. God promised them a son, but as time went on, the promise felt out of reach. Rather than waiting for God's timing, they tried to solve things themselves, and Abraham had a child with Hagar. This choice led to pain, conflict, and lasting effects. Still, God stayed faithful. He remembered His promise, and at the right time, He gave them Isaac, showing that His way is always better than any shortcut we might take. Maybe we have been there; rushing into a relationship, taking an opportunity without asking God first, making a choice out of fear, or drifting away because waiting felt too hard.

The good news is that our mistakes never catch God off guard. If He has called and chosen you, His grace is bigger than any failure. Just like a shepherd who leaves ninety-nine sheep to find the one that's lost, God goes after His children with love. He knows exactly where you are and can bring you back, no matter how far you've gone. Ecclesiastes 3:11 says that God has made everything beautiful in its time. His timing might not be what we expect, but it always comes from His wisdom and love. Ephesians 3:20 tells us He can do much more than we could ever ask or imagine. Often, the blessing He has for us is much greater than anything we could make happen on our own.

If you're waiting right now, don't give up hope. Trust God's heart, even when you can't see what He's doing. Try not to get ahead of Him. The God who started a good work in you will finish it, and the God who called you can lead you back, restore you, and bless you more than you ever thought possible.

Heaven Will Stand For You

There may be times when we wonder, "Why doesn't anyone understand or support me? If only someone stood by me, I could do so much more." Perhaps you've even questioned why your parents or those closest to you do not understand your God-given vision. Joseph experienced the same. God gave him two prophetic dreams, but when he shared them, his father rebuked him and his brothers hated him even more. They mocked him as a "dreamer" and eventually sold him into slavery, believing his dreams would never come to pass. Yet while his family stood against him, Heaven stood with him, proving that God's purpose is never dependent on human approval.

Joseph believed that his dream came from God and trusted that it would be fulfilled in God's perfect timing. Whether in Potiphar's house, in prison, or through every trial he faced, he never gave up on God or abandoned the dream. Instead, he continued to trust the One who had spoken to him. Deep within his heart, Joseph knew: "He who promised is faithful" Hebrews 10:23.

And Heaven did. After years of rejection, betrayal, and waiting, God fulfilled Joseph's dream. By interpreting Pharaoh's dream, Joseph was raised to become the second most powerful man in Egypt. The one mocked for his dream became God's instrument to save a nation. Though people abandoned him, God never did. My dear friend, if God has placed a dream in your heart, do not give up because others fail to understand or support you.

Keep your eyes on the One who called you, for He is faithful to fulfil His purpose in His perfect time. Remember the words of Proverbs 3:5: "Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and lean not on your own understanding." You may not have everyone's support, and at times you may feel alone. But if God is with you, you are never alone. Keep trusting Him and pursuing the purpose He has placed in your heart. When people reject you, Heaven still stands with you. If God gave you the dream, trust Him with the process.

In His perfect time, He will bring it to pass. Even when the path is unclear, He is still making a way. Even when answers seem delayed, He is still keeping His promises. Even when life feels dark, His light has not gone out.

Rooted By The Streams Of Grace

But blessed is the one who trusts in the Lord, whose confidence is in Him. They will be like a tree planted by the water..." - Jeremiah 17:7–8

One fact that we all can agree upon is that there are seasons in life when everything around us seems dry. Prayers appear unanswered. Doors remain closed. Strength fades, and our hearts quietly begin searching for something to hold on to. In those moments, the greatest question is not, "How difficult is my situation?" but rather, "Where am I standing?"

This verse in the book of Jeremiah reminds us that a life rooted in God is not a life without hardship. The heat still comes. The drought still arrives. The winds still blow. Yet the tree remains green because its life does not depend on the weather but on the stream beneath it.

How often do we unknowingly place our confidence in our abilities, our finances, the approval of people, or carefully laid plans? These things may support us for a while, but they cannot sustain our souls. When they fail, fear quickly replaces peace. But if our confidence rests in Christ, we discover a source that never runs dry. His faithfulness goes deeper than our fears, and His grace is greater than our uncertainties.

Perhaps, of late, you feel weary. Maybe you're waiting for healing, direction, restoration, or an answered prayer. Remember that God is not asking you to manufacture strength. Remain rooted in Him. Before others see the blessing, God is strengthening you in His presence.

We don’t have to pretend that everything is fine. We believe that God is good even when life is difficult. It is resting in His promises when circumstances suggest otherwise. As your roots grow deeper into His Word and His presence, you will discover a peace that survives every season and a fruitfulness that no drought can steal.

Today, don't measure God's faithfulness by your circumstances. Measure your circumstances against the unchanging faithfulness of God. The One who planted you beside living waters will sustain you until His purpose in your life is complete.

A Heart Ruled By God

“Everyone should be quick to listen, slow to speak and slow to become angry, because human anger does not produce the righteousness that God desires.” - James 1:19 & 20

Anger is a powerful emotion, but it is a dangerous master. When we allow anger to control our hearts, it clouds our judgment, damages relationships, and steals the peace God desires for us.

Many of our deepest regrets are spoken in moments of uncontrolled anger. Yet God never asks us to suppress our emotions. Instead, He invites us to surrender them to Him.

Before reacting, pause and seek His wisdom.

Let the Holy Spirit soften your heart and guide your words. Choosing patience over retaliation is not weakness. It is evidence of God's strength at work within you.

Forgiveness breaks the chains that anger creates, and grace restores what bitterness destroys. Today, ask God to replace every spark of resentment with His peace, every harsh word with kindness, and every angry reaction with Christ's love.

A heart ruled by God will always shine brighter than a temper ruled by emotion.

Over The Flood

"The Lord sits enthroned over the flood; the Lord is enthroned as King forever." - Psalm 29:10

Some of life's hardest seasons are not marked by loud disasters but by silent uncertainty. We find ourselves waiting for answers that never seem to come, watching familiar ground disappear beneath our feet, and wondering where God is leading us. Just like Noah inside the ark, we may feel preserved by God's grace, yet unsure of what comes next.

Let's imagine Noah looking through the small window day after day. There was no map, no visible shoreline, and no certainty about when the flood would end. Yet, his safety was never found in knowing the destination. For he knew that the God who had closed the door of the ark would carry him safely over every rising wave. The floods of this world can never submerge God's throne. The storm may surround us, but it can never rule over us.

The waters may rise, but they cannot rise above the authority of our King. Every wave still answers to the voice of its Creator. Perhaps today you are navigating a flood of unanswered prayers, unexpected setbacks, or overwhelming responsibilities. You may not understand why the journey has taken this path, but you can be certain that God is still seated on His throne. His rule is not shaken by our uncertainty, nor is His purpose delayed by the storms we face.

Our faith is the confidence that the One who called us and knows us also takes care of our today and tomorrows. Even when we cannot trace His hand, we can trust His heart. The same God who guided Noah through the flood will faithfully guide His children through every season of waiting, refining, and restoration.

Do not allow the height of the waves to determine the depth of your peace. Look above the flood and behold the King who remains seated, unshaken, and fully in control. The God who carried Noah safely to dry ground is the same God who will bring you safely into every promise He has prepared for you.

Servant Of The Presence, Not of the Platform

"For even the Son of Man came not to be served, but to serve, and to give His life as a ransom for many."- Mark 10:45

In a world that celebrates influence, recognition, and success, it is easy to mistake visibility for significance. We often assume that the most fruitful ministry belongs to those standing on platforms, leading large crowds, or carrying impressive titles. Jesus, the King of Kings, never sought earthly prestige. The One who spoke galaxies into existence chose to kneel before His own disciples and wash their dusty feet. The hands that held the universe became the hands that chose to serve. Through that single act, Christ forever redefined leadership. In His Kingdom, authority is expressed through humility, and greatness is revealed through service.

Ministry begins in the hidden places of obedience, where no audience applauds, and no recognition is expected. It is found in the quiet prayer offered for someone in need, the encouraging word spoken to a weary heart, the patient care shown to the forgotten, and the willingness to love those who can never return the favour. God has never been impressed by titles, positions, or outward accomplishments. Throughout Scripture, He consistently looked beyond appearances and examined the heart. A ministry that seeks personal recognition may attract people, but only ministry rooted in humility reveals the heart of God to mankind.

The beauty of a servant's heart is that it finds joy in obedience rather than applause. It understands that no act of faithfulness is ever insignificant in the eyes of God. Every unseen sacrifice, every quiet act of compassion, every tear shed in intercession, and every humble deed offered for His glory is noticed by the Father who sees in secret.

As followers of Christ, we are not called to build our own reputation but to reflect His character. The cross reminds us that love stoops low before it lifts others high. May we never pursue a platform more than His presence or seek recognition more than faithfulness. For in God's Kingdom, the greatest servants are those who quietly live so that Christ alone receives the glory.

Blessing Beyond Every Blessing

"Then Moses said to Him, 'If Your Presence does not go with us, do not send us up from here… What else will distinguish me and Your people from all the other people on the face of the earth?'" - Exodus 33:15–16.

There are moments when our prayers become centred around destinations rather than the presence of God who leads us there. We ask God to open doors, bless our careers, heal our families, increase our resources, and fulfil our dreams. And no, they are not wrong desires. But Moses has a different revelation about blessing. The greatest gift God can give us is not His provision, but His presence. Israel stood on the threshold of the Promised Land, the fulfilment of a promise for generations in the making.

When God told Moses the people could go forward without His presence, Moses refused. To him, God's presence was more valuable than the Promised Land itself. This reminds us that true blessing is not found in earthly success but in God's presence, which alone gives meaning and transforms every circumstance. A wilderness with Him becomes a place of communion. A prison with Him becomes a place of purpose. A storm with Him becomes a testimony of peace. Without Him, even the greatest achievements leave the soul restless. With Him, even seasons of waiting become rich with hope and meaning.

The danger for every believer is to become so occupied with seeking God's blessings that we gradually neglect seeking His face. We become more excited about answered prayers than about deeper fellowship with the One who answers them. Yet every blessing apart from His presence eventually loses its satisfaction, while His presence alone satisfies the deepest longing of the human heart. Our identity is not found in our accomplishments, possessions, or ministry but in our relationship with God. His presence is our greatest privilege, our deepest security, and our highest reward.

For when His presence goes before us, every blessing finds its true meaning, and we enjoy his goodness to the best.

Faithful Becomes The Fruitful

"And he said to him, 'Well done, good servant! Because you have been faithful in a very little, you shall have authority over ten cities.'" - Luke 19:17. We often pray for greater opportunities, larger responsibilities, and a wider influence. But God frequently begins His work in places that seem ordinary, unnoticed, and even insignificant. While we focus on what we hope to receive tomorrow, He gently asks how we are stewarding what He has already placed in our hands today.

In the Parable of the Talents, Jesus teaches that promotion follows faithfulness. The servants were rewarded not for what they had, but for how faithfully they used what was entrusted to them. While the world values size and success, God values faithful stewardship above all. David learned faithfulness while tending sheep long before he wore a crown. Joseph served with integrity in prison before he governed a nation. Even Jesus spent many hidden years in quiet obedience in the not-so-charming Nazareth before His public ministry began. Throughout Scripture, God consistently prepares His servants in the unseen places before entrusting them with greater assignments.

The quiet prayer no one hears, the act of kindness no one notices, the responsibility carried with excellence, the willingness to serve without recognition, and the decision to remain faithful when no applause follows are the moments where character is formed, and trust is established. These hidden seasons are not wasted seasons. They are classrooms where humility is cultivated, perseverance is strengthened, and dependence upon God is deepened. Before God expands our influence, He transforms and enlarges our character. If your today feels small or your present assignment feels insignificant, pray and continue to steward faithfully in that area. Because God never overlooks quiet obedience, and He never forgets faithful stewardship. The hands that faithfully serve in secret today are the very hands that God chooses to use publicly tomorrow.

The God who rewards faithfulness is always preparing His children for purposes far greater than they can presently see.

He Remembers Us

For He knows our frame; He remembers that we are dust. - Psalm 103:14

There are moments when we expect more from ourselves than God does. We become frustrated by our weaknesses, discouraged by our failures, and burdened by the unrealistic belief that we must always be strong. We hide our struggles behind smiles, hoping no one notices the cracks beneath the surface. Yet the One who created also knows us completely and still loves us perfectly. David writes that God knows our frame. He remembers that we are dust. These words are not spoken to shame us but to comfort us. They remind us that our Creator understands both our strengths and our limitations. He is never surprised by our exhaustion, our fears, or the battles we quietly carry. The God who formed us from the dust of the earth has intimate knowledge of every part of our lives.

The frame of a house is rarely seen. Visitors admire the paint, the décor, and the beauty of the finished structure, but the true strength of the house lies in the hidden framework that supports everything else. It is only when strong winds and heavy storms come that the quality of the frame is revealed! Our lives are pretty much the same. Others may only see what is visible, but God sees the hidden places of the heart. He knows the silent disappointments we never speak about, the temptations we wrestle with, the grief we carry, and the fears we struggle to surrender. Nothing about us is hidden from His loving gaze.

And because God knows our frame, He deals with us in mercy rather than harshness. He promises grace that is sufficient for each day and power that is made perfect in our weakness. The trials He allows into our lives are never outside His sovereign care, and His sustaining grace always accompanies His calling. When you feel fragile, remember that your weakness is not a surprise to God. He is not waiting for you to become stronger before He draws near. He meets you in your frailty, strengthens you with His presence, and gently carries you when your own strength is gone.

Therefore, rest in His compassion, depend on His strength, and trust that the hands which formed you are more than able to sustain you through every season of life.

When God Rewrites The Story

"Then Samuel asked, 'Are these all the sons you have?' 'There is still the youngest,' Jesse replied. 'But he's out in the fields watching the sheep and goats.'" - 1 Samuel 16:11.

Some words leave lasting wounds, especially when they come from those whose approval we long for: "You're too young," "You're not qualified," "But you'll never be like them." David knew what it meant to be overlooked. While his brothers stood before Samuel, David was forgotten in the fields. But what people saw as insignificance, God saw as preparation. The shepherd no one noticed was the king God had chosen.

The lonely fields taught David dependence. The proximity to sheep allowed the compassion in him to flow. The lion and the bear brought out his courage. The hidden place became the training ground for the throne. Nothing in David's life was wasted because every unnoticed season was shaping the heart God desired.

How often do we believe that our limitations disqualify us from God's purpose? We look at our past failures, our ordinary circumstances, our lack of influence, or the opinions others have spoken over us, and we conclude that God must surely choose someone else. Yet throughout Scripture, God repeatedly chooses the unlikely so that His power and not human ability receives the glory.

The world measures worth by appearance, status, success, and achievement. God searches much deeper. He looks for hearts that are surrendered, faithful, teachable, and willing to obey. While people are impressed by outward strength, God delights in transforming humble lives into testimonies of His grace. If you have ever felt overlooked, rejected, or underestimated, remember that human opinion does not determine divine calling. The doors people close cannot cancel the plans God has established. Their rejection is never the final chapter because God is still writing your story.

The very reason others counted you out will become the reason God displays His faithfulness through your life. So, trust His timing, remain faithful where He has placed you.

Daily Surrender

"Then He said to them all: 'Whoever wants to be My disciple must deny themselves and take up their cross daily and follow Me.'" - Luke 9:23

When I first accepted Jesus Christ as my personal Saviour, I expected instant transformation. I thought my old habits would disappear, my struggles would end, and following Christ would always feel easy. But I soon discovered that salvation is not the finish line; it is the beginning of a lifelong journey with Jesus.

God never promised a trouble-free life. Instead, He promised His presence. Every day, He patiently shapes our hearts to become more like Christ. Following Him is not just a one-time decision or a Sunday routine. It is an everyday, every-moment choice to humble ourselves, surrender our own thoughts, and obey the will of our Heavenly Father. That isn't easy. Building the discipline to obey Him often feels difficult, but those very moments remind me how much I need my Saviour.

There have been many times, even after accepting Christ, when I have tried to figure out life on my own. I have relied on my own understanding and failed miserably. Pride, self-reliance, and worry have only led me further away from the peace God offers. Every day is a battle to deny myself, surrender my plans, and listen to Christ. Yet every act of surrender reminds me that I cannot live the Christian life in my own strength. I need Jesus every single day.

This is the sermon I continually preach to myself: Walk with Christ in His humility. He never promised that the journey would be easy, but He did promise that He would never leave us. As Joshua 1:9 reminds us, "Be strong and courageous... for the Lord your God is with you wherever you go."

Our confidence is not in ourselves but in the faithful presence of God, who walks with us every step of the way.
